

Alarm.com & Go!Control

The Go!Control security control panel from 2GIG Technologies, powered by Alarm.com's proven technology platform, provides an advanced, web-enabled and interactive security monitoring solution.

Using Alarm.com's dedicated wireless signaling to transmit alarm signals and activity notifications, the Go!Control panel supports a variety of security system control capabilities. It is tightly integrated with Alarm.com's 2-way voice over GSM and emPower™ home automation and energy management solution, allowing the ability to control lights, appliances and thermostats.

Users can control their security system via Alarm.com's user-friendly web and mobile interfaces or from the Go!Control panel's state-of-the-art color touch screen.

With Alarm.com, users can arm or disarm the system, monitor sensors and view camera activity, as well as receive real-time notifications—all via any web-enabled computer or mobile device.

The panel also supports Alarm.com's patented Crash & Smash Protection technology, ensuring reliable communications, even in the event of panel damage or destruction.
